

SWT Design Wins Multiple Awards

February 22, 2008

The local chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects held its annual holiday awards party recognizing seven local landscape architecture award recipients. The design awards recognize excellence in landscape architecture design completed for site-specific projects that have been constructed and may include residential, commercial, public and institutional works. SWT Design, a Shrewsbury-based environmentally conscious planning and landscape architecture firm, was awarded two of the seven design awards.

The firm's emphasis on teamwork permeates all aspects of their work, from building strong, long-lasting client relationships to their uniquely creative design solutions. SWT Design is owned by Webster Groves resident Jim Wolterman. For more information, visit: www.swtdesign.com